Southwest Takes Form

Our first year, a time of trials and tribulations where we groped and searched through the darkness; to find the light, to keep on keepin' on.

An acorn

At first we were a separate people, from Mar Vista Junior, Montgomery Junior, Southwest Junior, Mar Vista High, and Montgomery High.

As time wore on though, we forgot where we came from, and worried about where we were going.

Together. . .
Pulling for each other and Southwest.

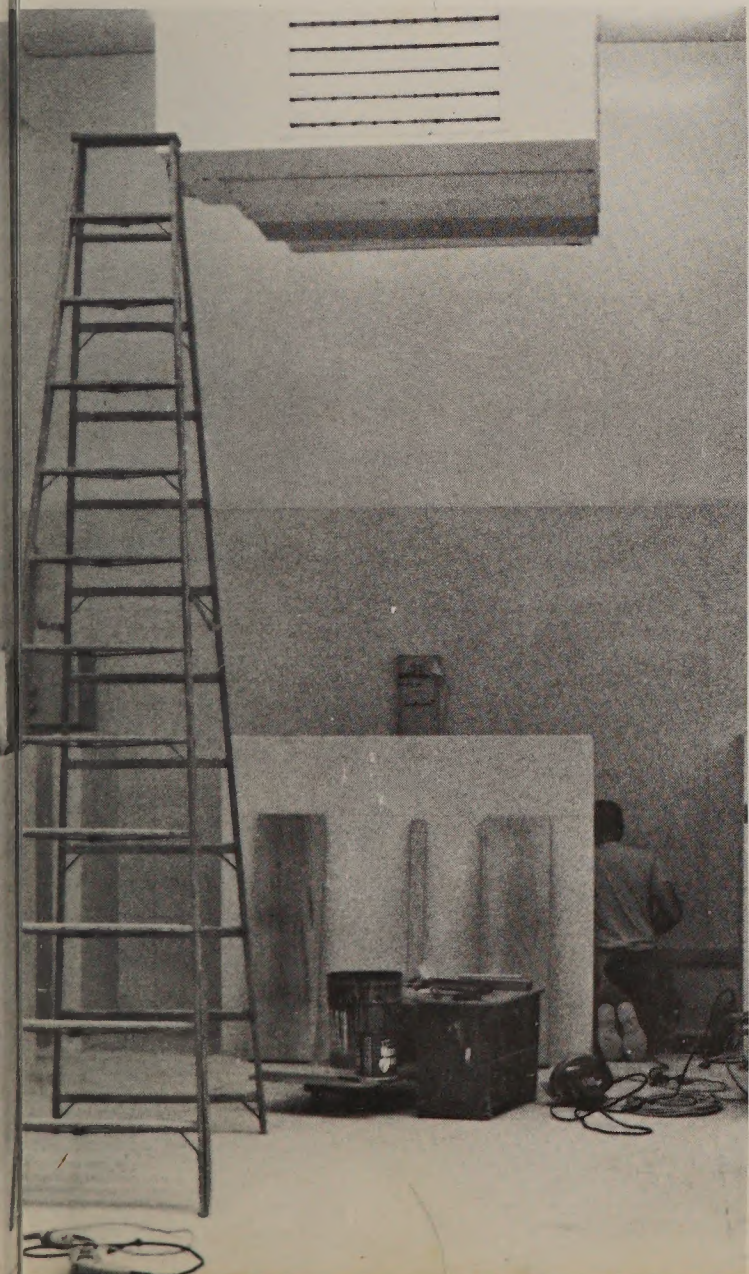

1. The building of a place for many victories to come.
2. The beginning of things is a mere image, the completion a true fact.
3. When things are finally done, the feeling of accomplishment is beautiful.
4. The finishing touches and then the beginnings of a new togetherness.

Learning Begins

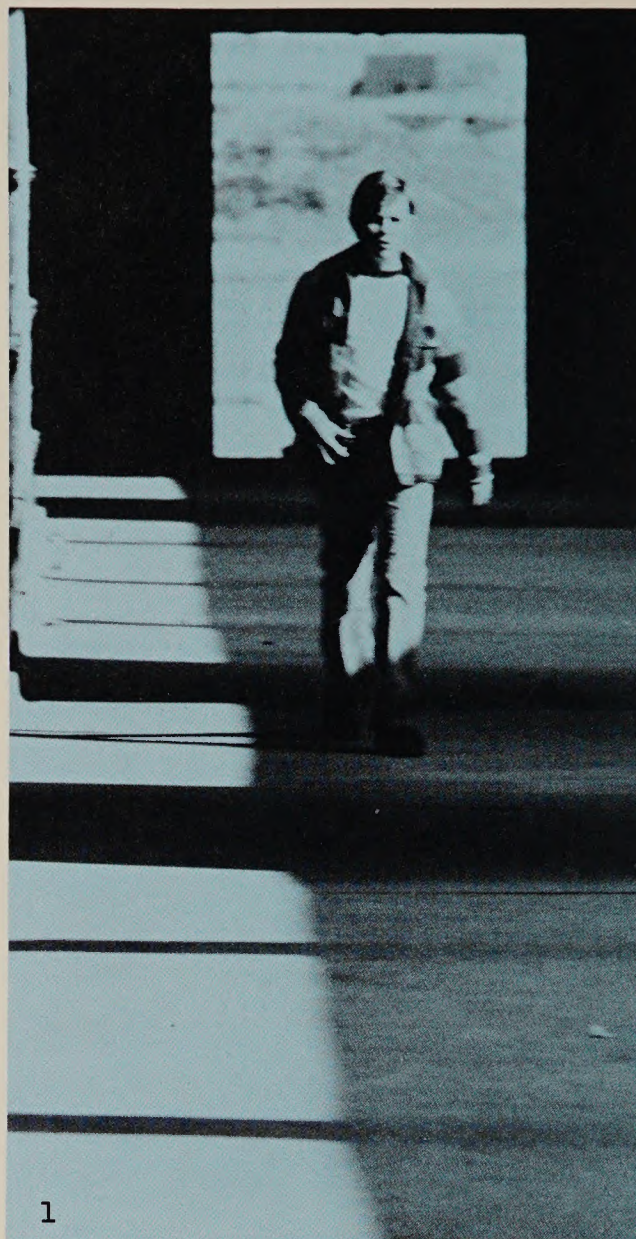

Many of the students regretted coming to Southwest because they thought nothing would be ready and completely organized.

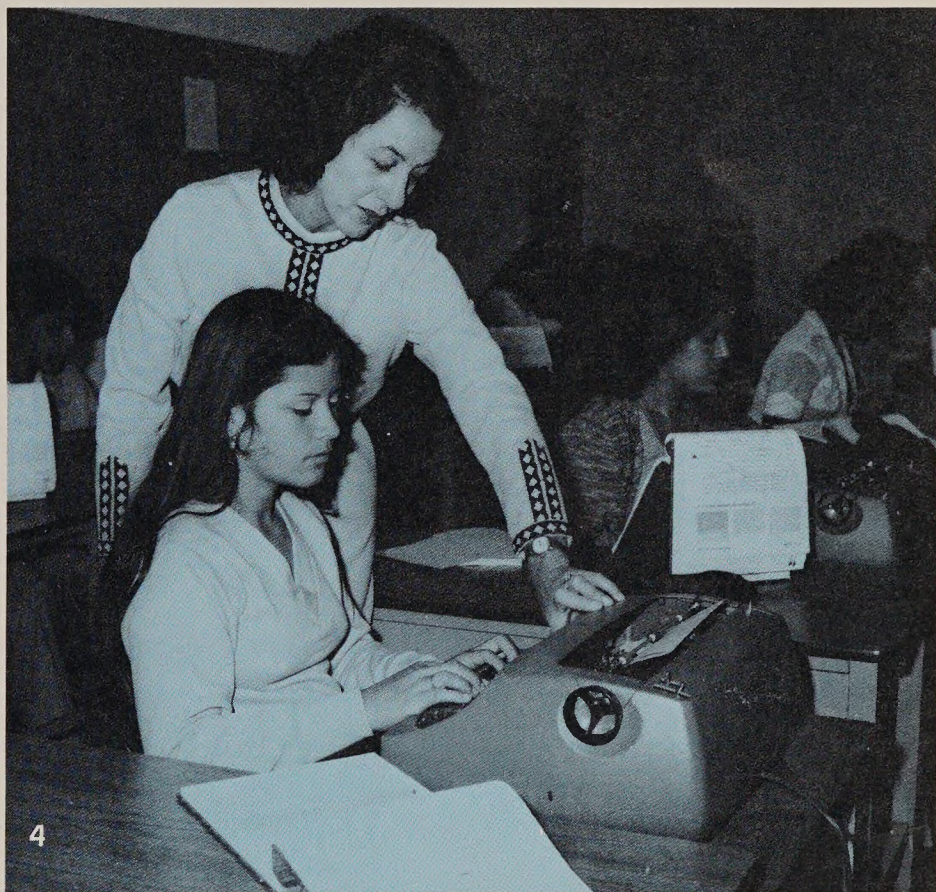

Through time and perseverance

So, the students started making use of what they did have...

Our library started with only a few books to offer, but soon grew. In the classrooms, we adjusted to the newness and to one another, and began the usual learning process in an atmosphere of gradually increasing unity.

1. Through the open door and down the silent hallway Jeff Fleck finds a place of peace. 2. In this place of teachings, thought is a necessity. Pictured Are Luz Baez, Augustine Larraga, Vickie Stuart, Jonie Talley, Larita Grimes, Kathleen Morrison, and Wayne Pratt. 3. Our once empty library shelves filled steadily with the knowledge of ages. 4. Mrs. Balestrieri helps a student find the right answer.

Teachers add Spirit

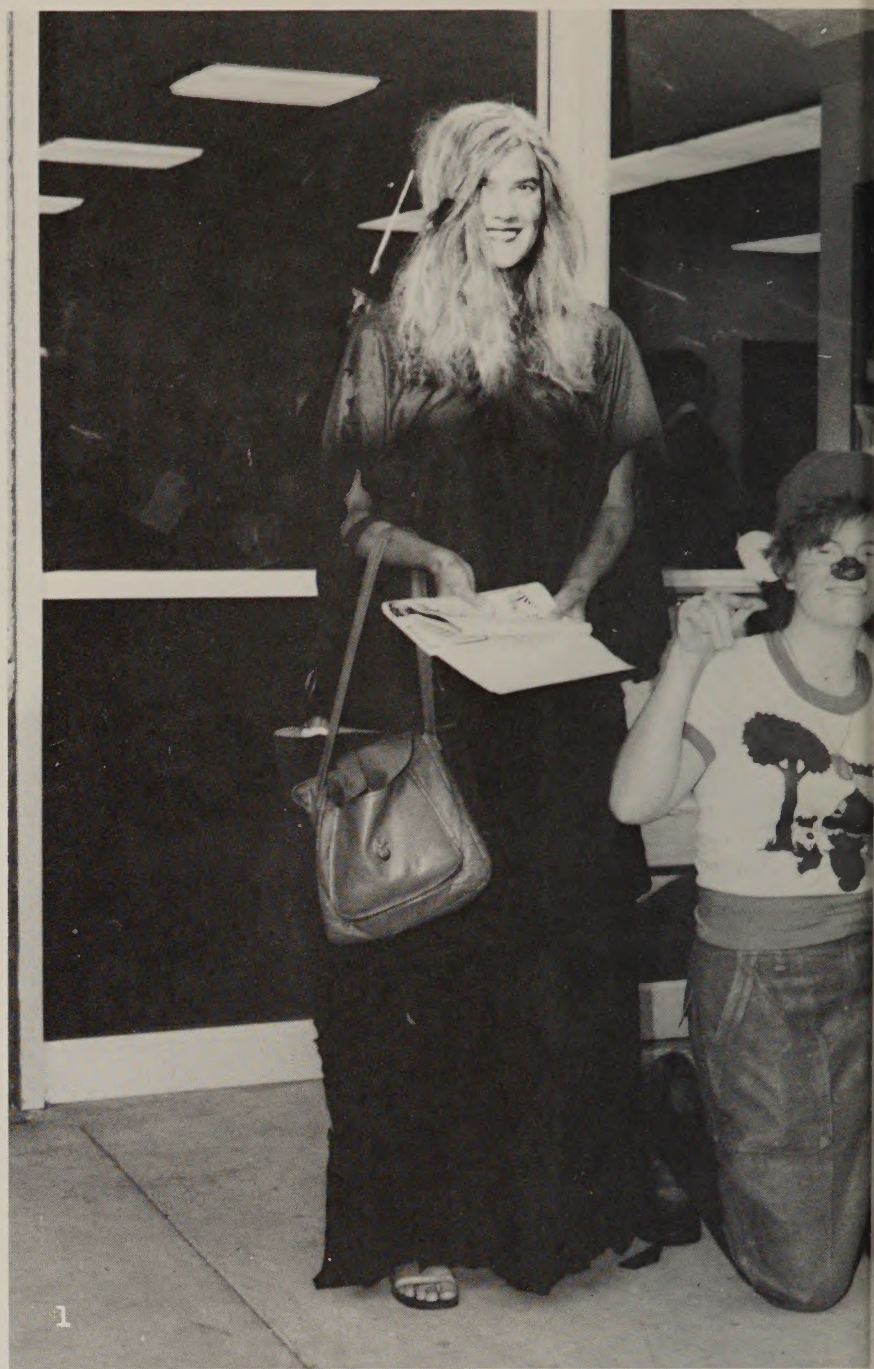

With the newness of the school came new and innovating teachers, uninhibited and spirited. People on campus all agree that Southwest has the best teachers around; teachers who not only teach academics, but who also teach us to grow. . .

It emerges a mighty oak

We are recognized and treated as individuals, encouraged to walk our own paths, and to experience our high school lives.

We have infinity before us and our time is fleeting. . .We too are just beginning. . .

1. Teachers show how the faculty feels about spirit on Halloween.
2. Marylou Marin, Anita Ramiriz, Luz Baez and Angela Valasco have a feeling of happiness within themselves.
3. Mr. Gonzales has a moment of solitude as he's holding up the mighty oak tree.
4. Adam Johnson and Dr. Giardina make preparations for an assembly.

Melua.

It's been really fun being together in the track team. I hope you join it next year. If you do good luck in it. I hope you get everything you want in life because a person like you really deserves everything.

God Bless You.

P.S. Stay out of trouble.

Your friend always
Martha Jazo

The Great

Our school has all the earmarks of a young wild thing-- constantly moving and exploring new surroundings...

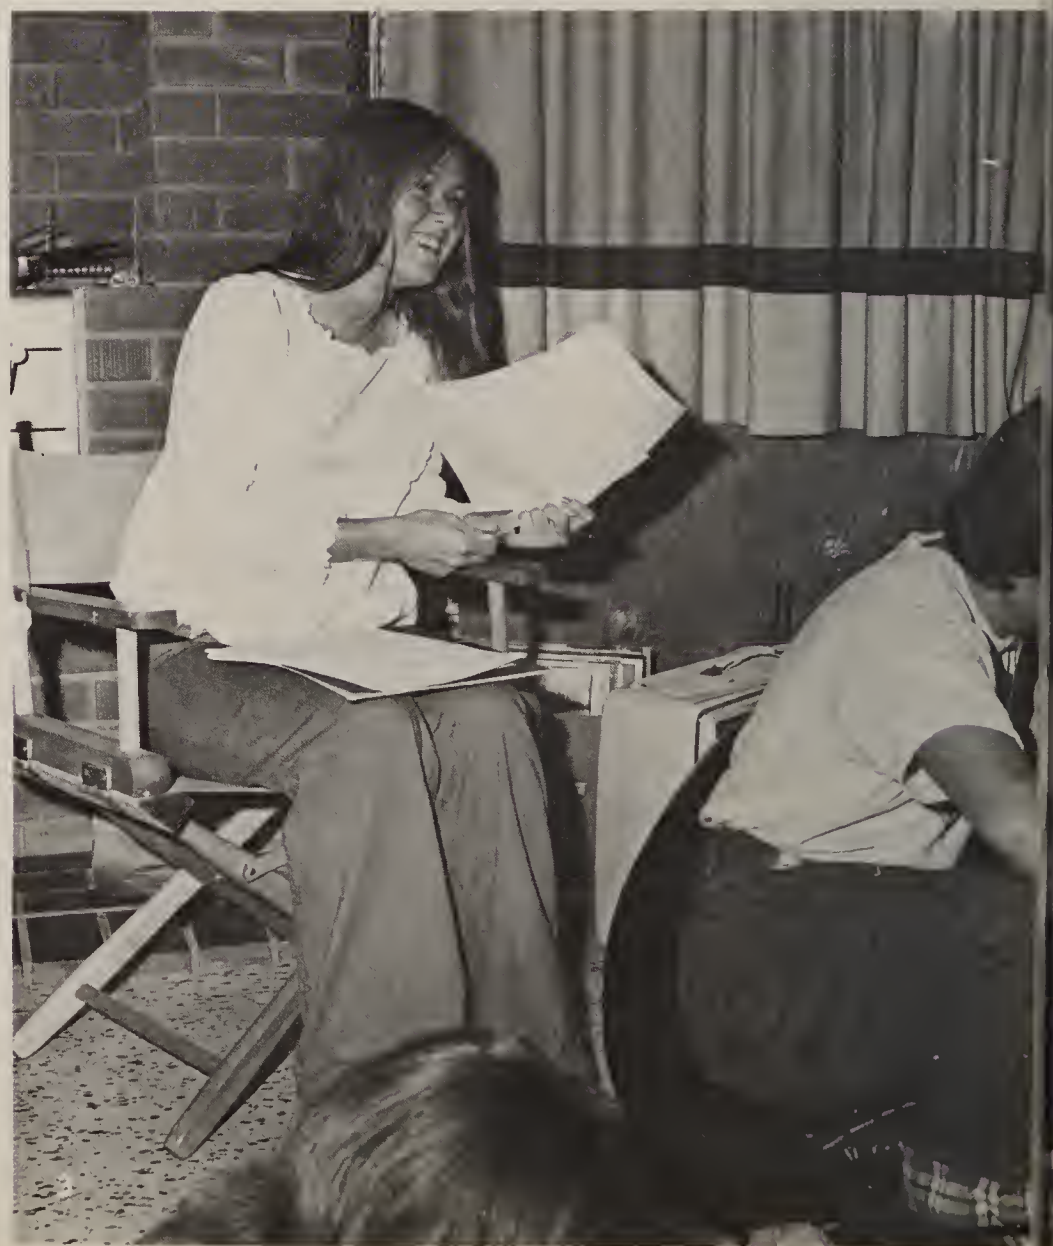

Four elements make its growing possible: Earth, wind, fire, and water.

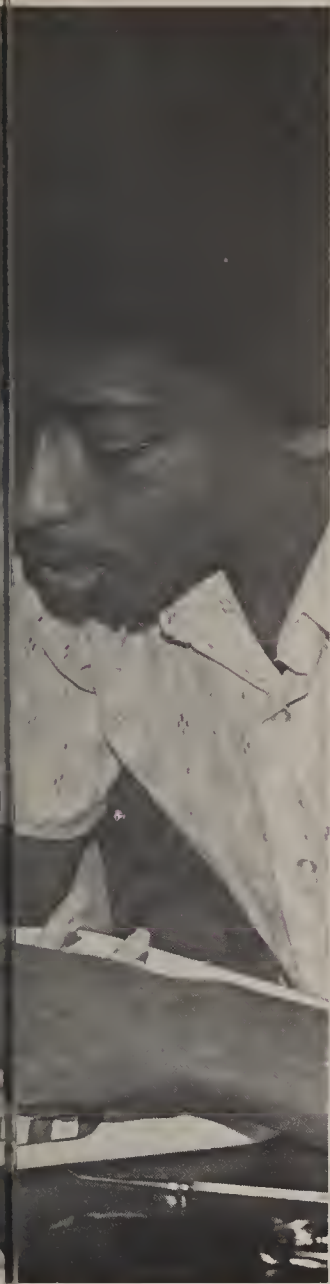

First we learn to crawl, then to walk, and finally, to run. On the way we must find time to smell the roses.

Raider Pride Emerges

Each individual had something to offer and it was combined to make Southwest and to bring forth Raider Pride.

So it was with Southwest,
but we grow on our courage,
spirit, ability and potential.

In the biology lab, new horizons were researched and others had fun producing something meaningful.
Teachers get involved and help us grow and reach out-- just like our newly planted shrubbery.

1. Along the corridors of Southwest new births are always occurring. 2. Rod Dacio, Mike Hernandez, Ernie Odviar and Bryan Greene diligently dissect a fetal pig in Mrs. Stone's Biology Class. 3. Kathleen Morrison, Glenn Del Carmen and Sally Andres are spending time together to prepare a good annual. 4. Ms. Syverson exhibits her ability to enjoy a sport at the faculty-student volleyball game.

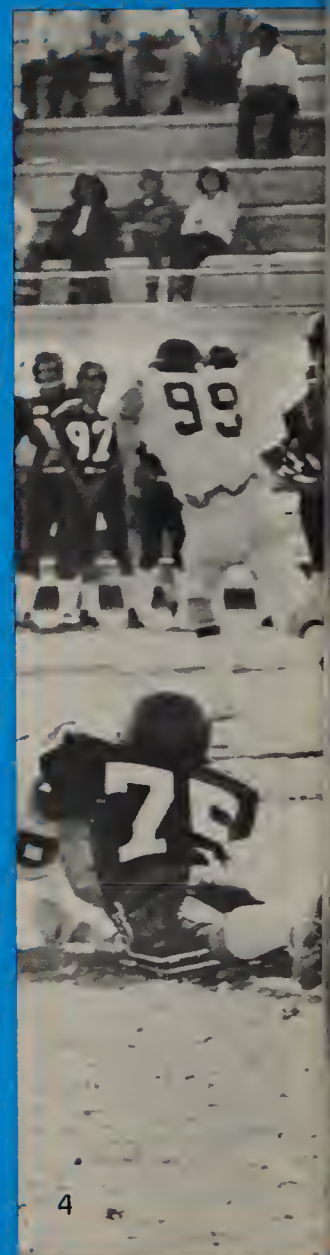

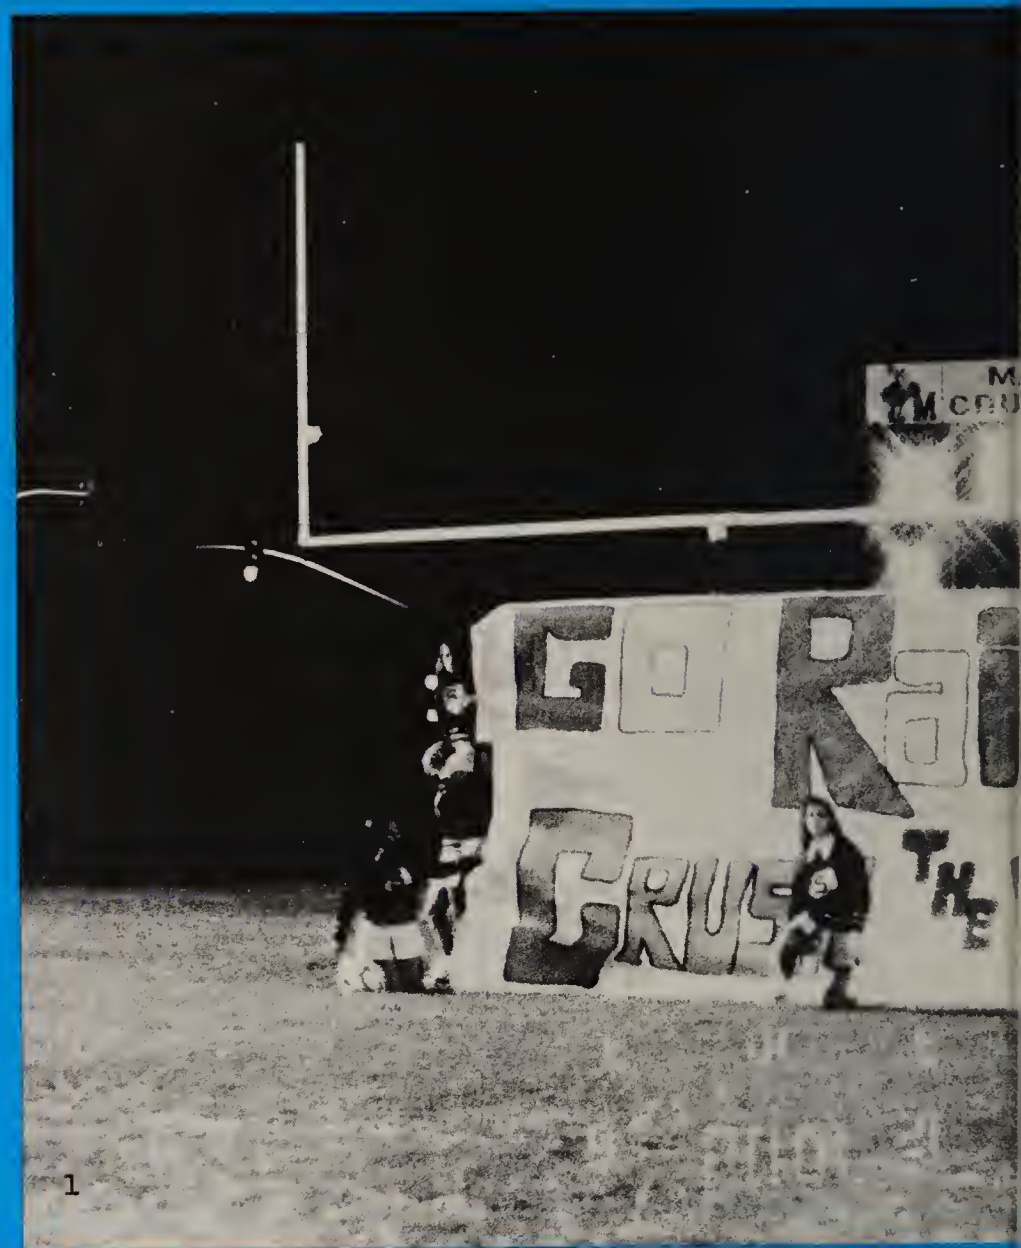

Raider pride and spirit outshown all others.
We didn't care that our season wasn't a winning one, because we had the courage to confront and challenge those who dared.

Athletic courage--
where no one submits to defeat, Fighting spirit--
when all seems hopeless.

When we lost, we came back again and again, reaching down deeper within ourselves to find the essence of victory and to transform it to reality.

We have learned to disregard the past,
and to concentrate on the future.

1. The Cheerleaders carried spirit through every season.
2. Cross Country effortlessly strives for Southwest victories.
3. The Cheerleaders always insisted that the Raiders are No. 1.
4. The Raiders push through with their pride.

Spirit Reigns First Year

School Busies All

We will become powerful, tapping our resources and blending the past forming a harmonic unification. . .

Ability to achieve effortlessly. . .
and the potential to conquer
all who stand in our way.

Southwest. A subdued awesomeness lingers about its very halls, and those who travel the corridors feel its presence.
Those who confront us will remember it.

1. Tom Kelly in the mist of dreams, finds a clearing for the future. 2. During the year hours were short and left little time for Melody Quismundo to get things done. 3. Waiting in line may be one of the hardest things to do. 4. Sandy Smith wonders if her explanation is still not clear.

We'll take it one step at a time with patience...
And we will arrive.

ACADEMIA

The first yearbook staff at Southwest High School had seemingly insurmountable odds to conquer. Until Nov. 1, there was not even the certainty that there would be a yearbook, but enough Raiders did buy books and production began. The staff consisted of 15 inexperienced, but eager and industrious students. Their goal was to publish a professional first edition of the Southwest High School yearbook, and they have accomplished that. I have never worked with a more capable, dedicated group. They have earned my respect--and praise--for an outstanding job.

THE SOUTHWEST SCENE. A first edition! A new staff in a new school put out its first paper the first month of the school year. Getting printing bids, selling ads to a community who had never heard of Southwest High, finding out news about a group of students who hadn't done anything together as a group before, and figuring out how to best use the talents of an unknown group of staff members--a challenge, sometimes a trial--but a success for the Southwest Scene!

A good school paper to begin with--and getting better all the time...that's what the Southwest Scene is all about!

To the surprise of many, Southwest High did have a band that turned out to be tiny but mighty. The Raider band consists of 17 members and the Director of Bands is Harold Richards. They have placed third in their first two competition parades. Next year the band looks forward to expanded instrumentation.

The members of the 1976 Southwest High Raider Band are Drum Major Debbie Hawkins, flutes: Leslie Caldwell and Debbie Hawkins; piccolos: Denise James and Sherry Morris; clarinets: Jay Judal, Gloria Kruger, Susie Serna and Mary Whitson; bass clarinets: Ken Holter and Rick Neves; trombone: Jim Thompson; tuba: William Wallace and percussion: Orlando Bernabe, Rose Buenafe, Henry Curiel, Randy Littleton and Steve Morris.

1. Drill Team Members: Terry Flenniken, Janet Crine, Lisa Strickel, Marline Fisher. 2. Band Director: Mr. Harold Richards. 3. Raider Band in uniform. 4. Pep Band at a Basketball game. 5. Drum Major: Debby Hawkins and Mr. Richards.

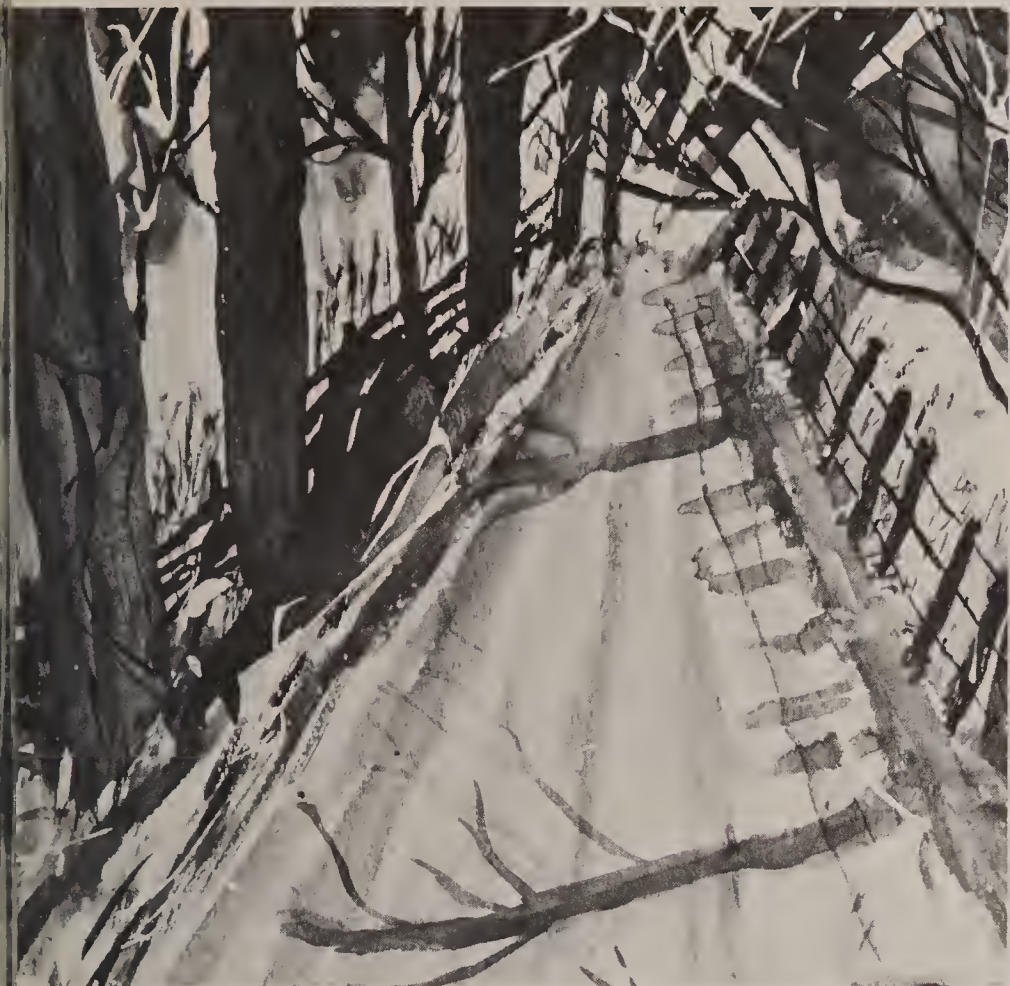

Memories captured forever in photographs recording enjoyment and pleasure

Mr. Puda's immediate goal as a photography teacher is to show students how to use a camera and to explore themselves. His long-range goal is to provide the student with the skills and attitudes that he or she will be able to use effectively as an adult.

1. Laurie Livingston discovers a place for a project in beginning Photography. 2. Jose Luis Tamayo and Laurie Livingston show their skill in the print room. 3. Debbie Vanderpool captures a feeling and brings out her imagination.

Expressing our minds.
Expressing our souls.

The art program at Southwest, under the instruction of Mr. John Raue, has produced individual works of creativity and expression on the part of the students. Courses in art and crafts are offered.

1. Antonio Rodriques water colors a picture that shows a dark country road. 2. Haydee Rico and Sara Mungia show the acts of patience, imagination, and skill are a necessity in the world of art. 3. Art Forral made this form of art called Op.-Art. 4. Susan Avalos and Letty Estrella find the time and putting out the effort turns out to be something worth striving for.

We looked at new horizons and challenged . . .

Business Education is very much involved with developing skills with which students will be able to obtain jobs. The courses offered prepare students for the world of work if they follow a definite sequence of elective courses in business.

1. Cindy Rhoten and Janet Crine take a course in shorthand to make words shorter. 2. Mickey Caddell and Rosalia Lizarraga tryout the new adding machines. 3. Julie Clark is taking a typing course in business education. 4. Jeff Jerkey uses a duplicator for a helpful purpose. 5. Learning about and liking the machines that make the world go smoother.

Learning, discovering the past And yearning for the future

Language arts, social science and laboratory science classes began the year with a great deal of enthusiasm--and a few missing pieces. The new plant provided an outstanding environment for learning and gradually all of the texts, materials and equipment arrived.

Student response to a dedicated and energetic faculty was rewarding. Second semester opened with a full complement of elective offerings designed to fit the needs of the students of Southwest High School.

1. Diane Johnson, Diane Noel, Tom Lange, Adam Johnson, and Michelle Noel all hard at work in English Competency. 2. James Judkins, Maria Torres and Lydia Kage reveal the inside of a fetel pig. 3. Frankie Gonzales and Paco Mendoza take a break as they try to figure out the assignment.

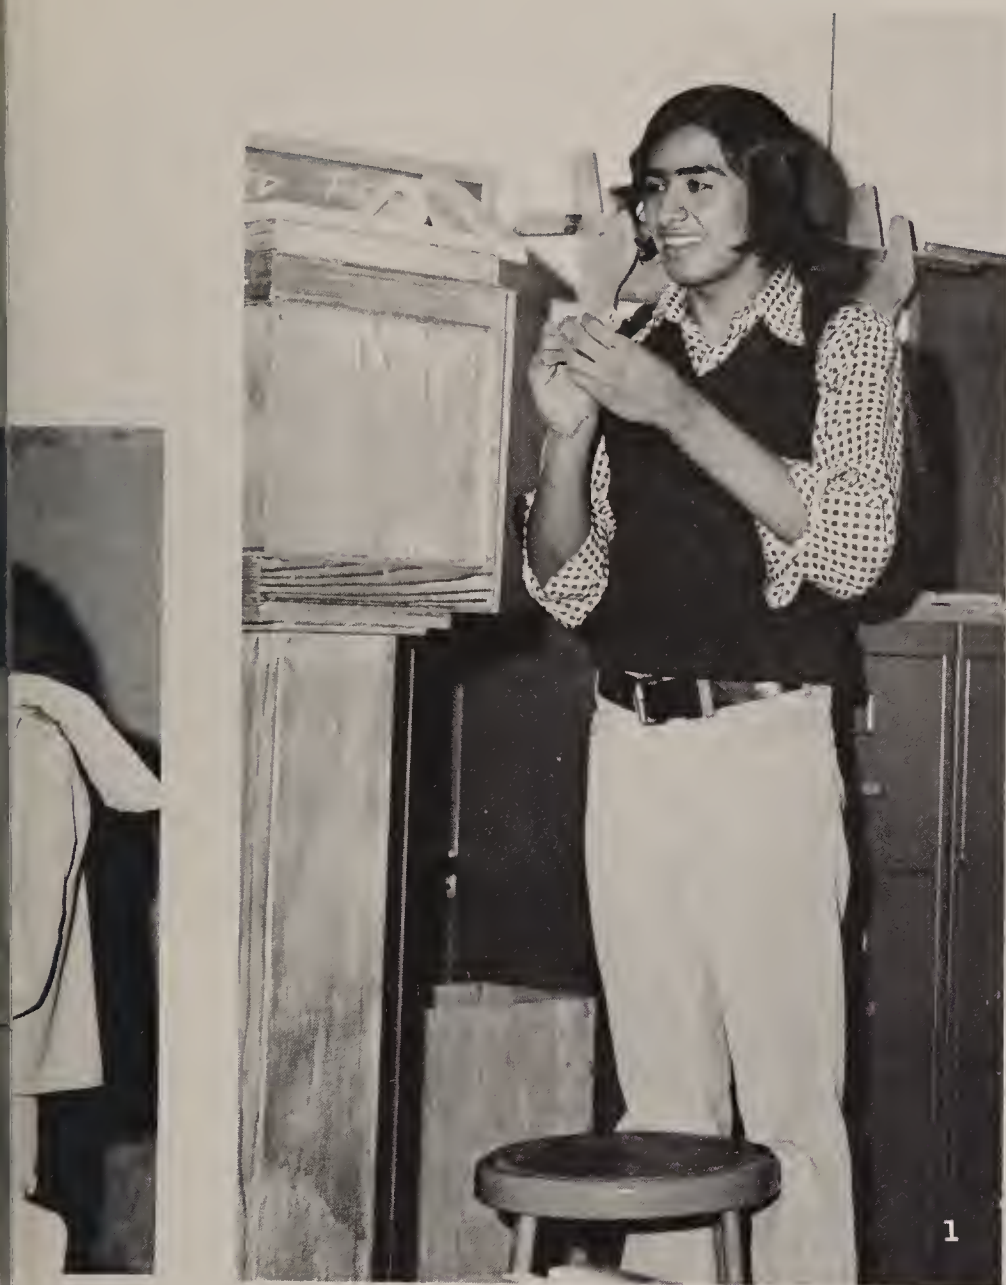

Skills of home and hearth . . . of mechanics and wood were explored

Let it now be known that Miss K's Home Ec class isn't just cooking and sewing. Miss K's classes Foods I and II and sewing worked closely with the crossage teaching class and together they prepared many an exciting day for the children of Nestor and Gregg Rogers Elementary schools. In addition to all this tremendous effort, her classes all prepared a special Bicentennial Luncheon on January 21, 1976 for Mr. and Mrs. Rindone for the years of service Mr. Rindone gave our district.

1. A day of learning how children really are inside and out. 2. Ms. "K" helps Julia Zabala and Genna Hernandez in a clothing course. 3. Billy White, Ray Armenta, Mario Alconcel and Franklin Alconcel, learn how to boil some water—a new experience for some.

In Auto Shop, students study various automotive chassis and how they operate. They work on engine disassembly and reassembly and discuss occupations relating to the automotive field. They also discuss the latest automotive developments and how they relate to industry and the consumer.

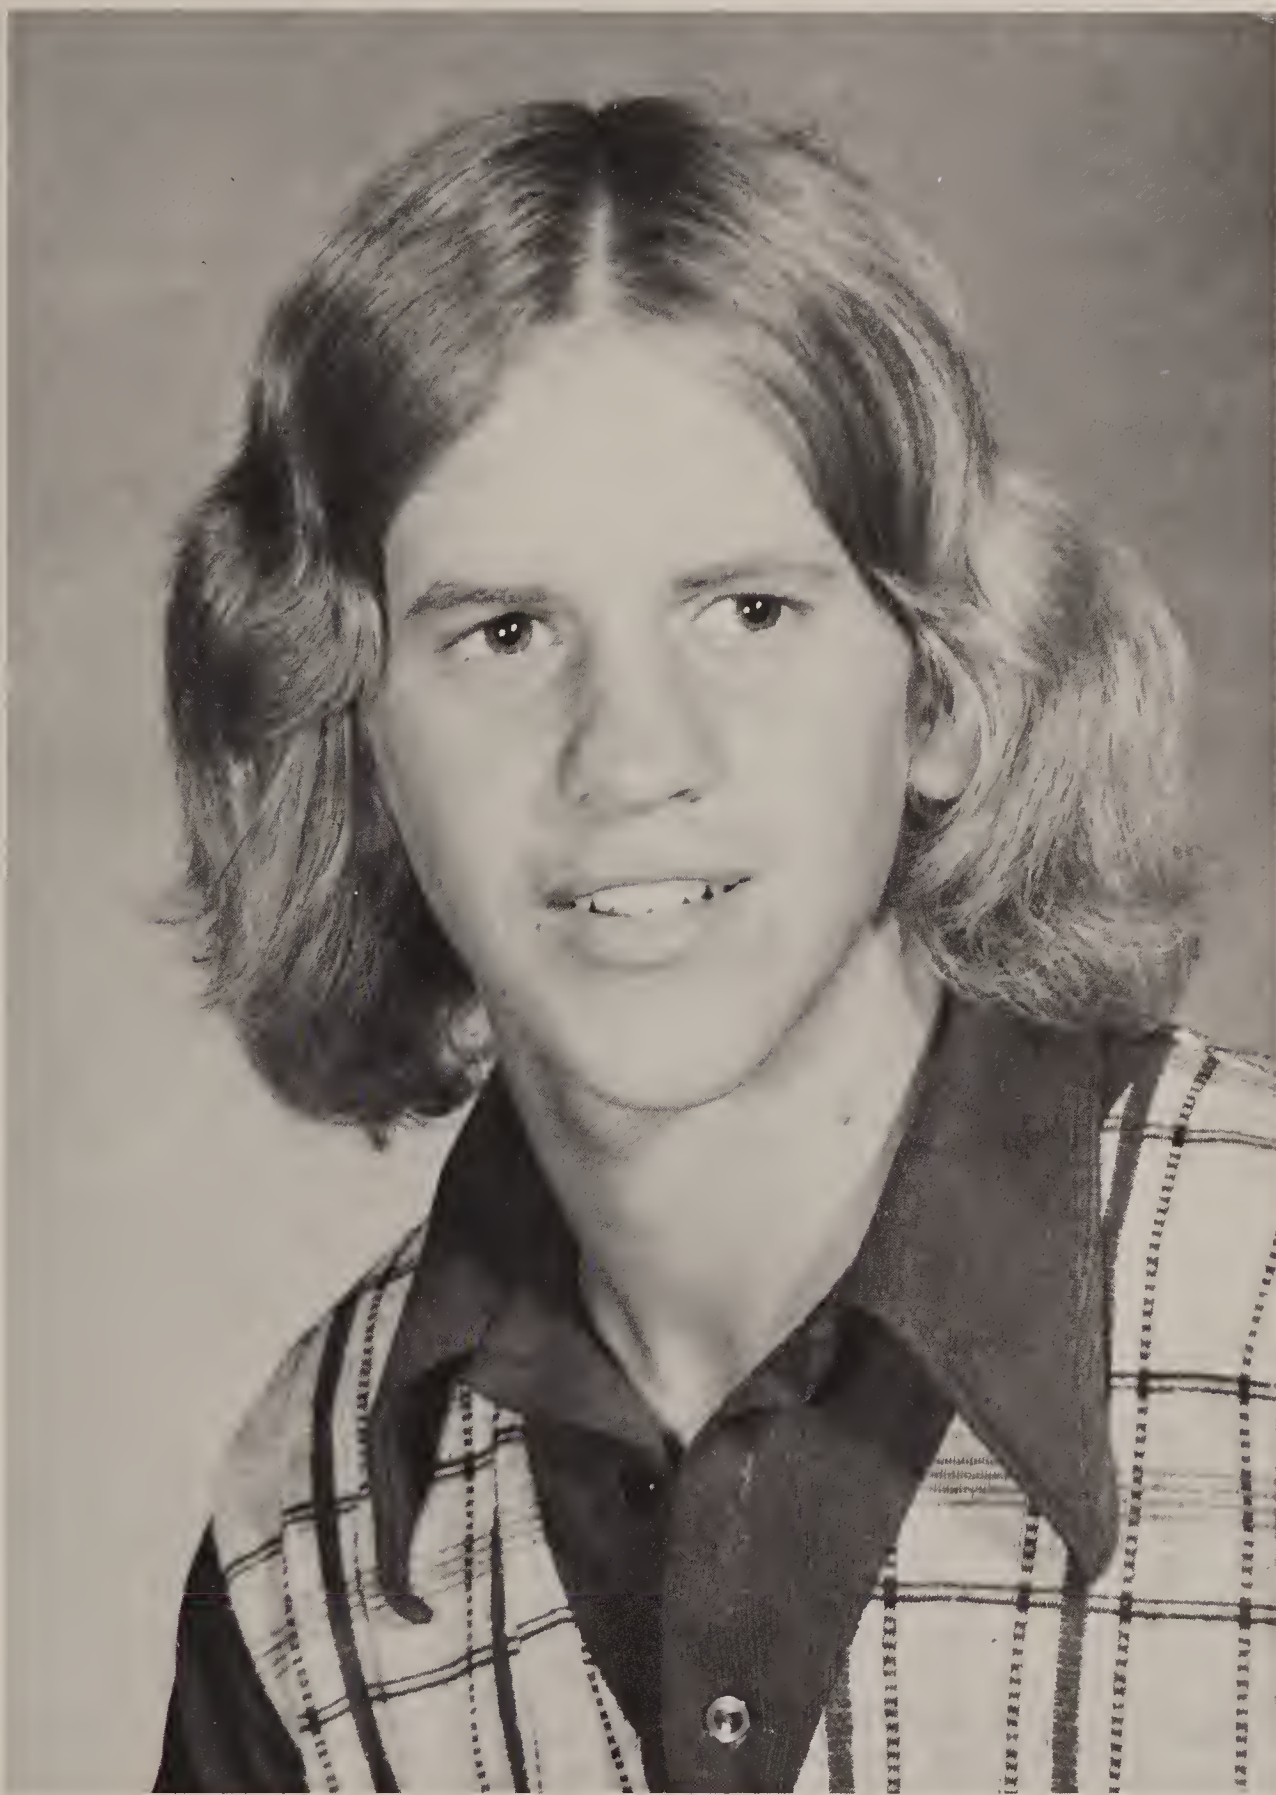

1. Francisco Leyva puts some finishing touches to a project he was working on. 2. Mr. Smith takes apart an engine block for his auto class. 3. Mike Wood and Mark Kuker work on the wood lathe in wood shop.

We portrayed our fantasies making others laugh and cry

Mrs. Dye has done an excellent job with Southwest High's Drama Department. She works closely with all her students and helps them with the preparation of the plays. The purpose of drama says Mrs. Dye is to build self-confidence and to develop the skills to express yourself through the character. It gives students the opportunity to perform in front of a live audience, and for those who don't want to perform, one can work back stage or learn about lighting. Jim Hopkins was a great help in lighting for all the plays. Drama is truly a self-building class and it takes a lot of drive to be a Raider actor or actress.

1. Charles Scronce and Marcy Wise in a segment of "A Marriage Proposal". 2. Christie Mason, Susan Garner, Julie Kadas in the play "to burn a witch". 3. Sylvia Friemuth, Charles Scronce and Marcy Wise in the play "A Marriage Proposal". 4. Mary Canney, John Smith and Scott Wolkins in the play "Dudley Doright Rides again."

SPORTS

Mighty Raider pride was not defeated on the field.

Southwest's first football season showed some fine, impressive football. As the team grew and gained experience, each game was played progressively better; however, an area that was strong one game would falter the next and an area that was weak another game would improve tremendously. With game experience and fine coaching from Head Coach Mike Davis and Coaches Arciaga, Foster, Gonzalez, Mercado, Pietila and Raue, the young Raider team shows exciting potential.

1. Curtis Tamlin takes the handoff from quarterback Hugo Brown. 2. The Barons are stopped cold on their own 25 yard line. 3. Wayne Pratt brings down a Baron as Michael Wimpie aids in the tackle. 4. Southwest comes back for the second half tearing up everything in sight. 5. Charlie Fisher and Dean Holter return a kick-off against Sweetwater. 6. First down and goal to go against the Bonita Barons.

The Red Raider Team stands poised and proud.

The first girl's volleyball season a very promising future. The past season started late for this young team of all sophomores and juniors, they lacked the experience and training that the other school teams had. Although the varsity win-loss record was 2-14, having lost a third win by a protest decision, the young team showed spirit and desire by almost defeating the CIF champions during the last game of the season by a score of 15-13, 6-15, 15-13.

Southwest High basketball was responsible for the school's first victory on the varsity level in a major sport. The Raiders captured the honor with an overtime 49-47 thriller over La Jolla Country Day. Southwest students enjoyed a season of exciting basketball while they watched their team improve steadily.

Gustavo Puffelis, a 5'11" sophomore, scored 23 points and grabbed 16 rebounds against Bonita Vista- helping to lead the way to a double-overtime victory. 5'10" John DeJesus, a sophomore, hit for 22 points in a two point victory over Sweetwater and 15 in the big win over the Barons.

Another bright spot for Southwest is Chris Hamill, a 5'7" Junior. Hamill's superior ball handling and defensive abilities were evident in all Raider games.

Ruben Valadez, a 5'8" Junior added stability and aggressive ballhandling to the Raider cause; he also served as the Raider Captain on most occasions.

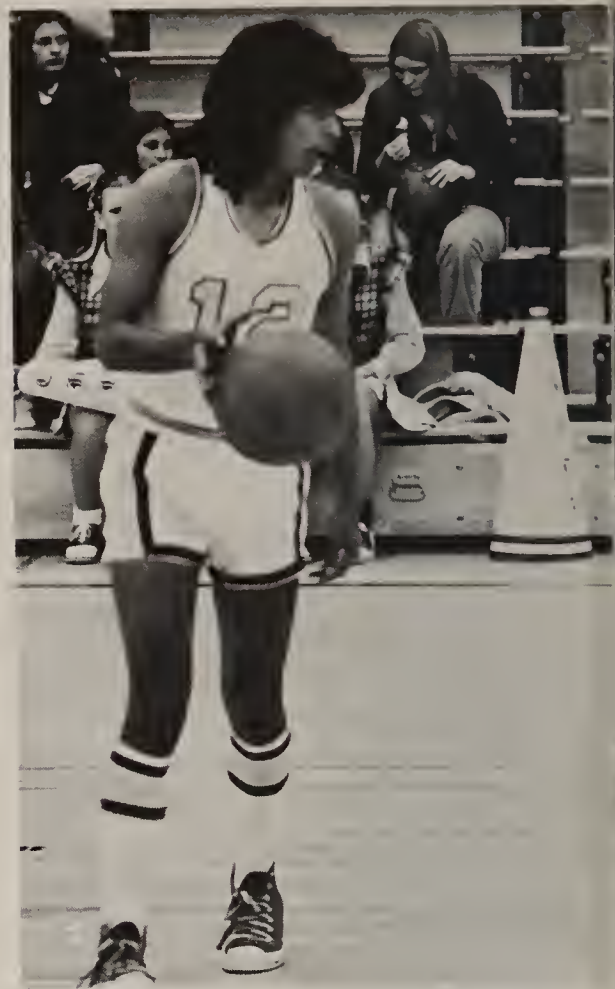

Elias Jackson is probably the most gifted offensive player on the Raider squad; he possesses a fine jump shot and is a skilled passer and driver. Elias was Southwest's major outside shooting threat this season.

Bolstering the team with depth was part-time starter Greg Pfeiffer. Greg was the most improved player on the team by far. This was due to an excellent attitude and dedication.

Rounding out the squad were Bryan Greene, Rick Cancino and Art "Moe" Molina.

1. Ruben Valadez looking for an opening. 2. John De Jesus goes for two points. 3. Chris Hamill shoots for two. 4. Elias Jackson makes a basket from the foul line. 5. SOPHOMORE BASKETBALL: Bottom Row L to R: Roland Martinez, Benito Juarez, Mike West, Head Coach Ron Pietila, Hugo Brown, Marco Flores, Carl Wallace, Antonio Rodriguez. Top Row L to R: Salvador Medina, Ani Lujan, Arturo Rosas.

Sophomores have winning season

Marked progress is expected of several members of a Sophomore team that had a winning season. Leading the list is Beni Juarez who, at 6'4", was the leading scorer and rebounder. Also, 6'4" Ken Collins showed marked improvement, as did 6'0" Sal Medina. These three should add some size and rebounding to next year's varsity squad. Others to watch are Carl Wallace, Mike West, Ani Lujan, Antonio Rodriguez and Marco Flores.

1. During timeout Coach Pietila and Mendina instruct the team in how to play basketball. 2. Arturo Rosas sets up for another play. 3. Marco Flores outmaneuvering his opponent. 4. Beni Juarez tries to tip the ball to his teammates in a jumpball attempt. 5. Ani Lujan on a free throw shot attempts to make a basket.

And many people said it wouldn't happen...

With a diverse student body, drawn from two junior highs and two existing senior highs, Southwest was quickly labelled as one that would be impossible to unify. Yet, somehow, magically maybe, we have been able to "get it all together" and we have begun to spread the Raider name and tradition throughout the area. Many people said it wouldn't happen.

Associated Student Body Activities also followed the pattern of being slow starters but strong finishers. Handicapped by having sometimes overly severe critics and too little money, your A.S.B. began to take its first steps at meetings held last summer. From those meager beginnings have evolved a fairly strong student activities program--from assemblies to athletics to journalism to drama to music--the co-curricular offerings of this school reflect the hard work and dedication of many talented students and faculty. Many people said it wouldn't happen.

It is the hope of the A.S.B. officers and commissioners that Southwest High School, the "impossible school", will always be the school whose students continue "To dream the impossible dream..."

Southwest's lively group of cheerleaders quickly earned a reputation for spirit, stamina and precision in the entire district. While the athletic teams may not have had winning seasons, these eleven girls always represented the Raiders in a winning style. Their activities included an over-whelmingly successful flower sale, and funny pep assembly skits. Also participation in a March cheerleading competition as well as attendance and cheering at athletic events. No other first-year school could claim such outstanding spirit-raisers who have set high standards for future years.

The dedication of Southwest High turned out to be a most impressive and successful event. People who attended the dedication were the Board of Trustees, the architect of Southwest --Mr. Foster, and other important dignitaries. The program began with Father Timothy Harnett of St. Charles Catholic Church. Arturo Molina led the flag salute and the Raider Band, directed by Mr. Harold Richards, provided the National Anthem. The program continued with Mrs. Ruth Chapman of the Board of Trustees giving a welcoming speech to many parents, students and the special guests who attended. Introduction of the special guests and dignitaries was given by Mrs. Judith Bauer. Ernest Azhocar made the presentation of the school to the Community, the P.T.A., and to the student body. Special flags were presented to Sam Besa and Arturo Molina, student body presidents, by Assemblyman Deddeh and Senator Mills. Closing remarks were given by retiring District Superintendent John Rindone, Jr. in English and Spanish.

Assemblies Entertain Raiders

As the result of the hard work and effort of our Raider cheerleaders, the eleven-girl squad came up with some unique and interesting pep rallies. The very first rally featured "The Heads" dancing to "Get Down Tonight" and the cheerleaders proved that it would be an intriguing year. After outside pep assemblies, came an awards ceremony in the gymnasium where the athletes of winter sports were honored. The second gym assembly featured the San Diego Police Department's own rock band, the "PD 5", who entertained the students with current hit songs. This year's assemblies were spirited, informative and entertaining.

Girls League

This group of dedicated girls sponsored Southwest High's first Valentine's ball held the evening of February 9, 1976 in our music/drama building. Mrs. Hoadley is responsible for the organization and for the leadership of the club.

Pep and Boosters

This club is, without a doubt, the backbone of Raider spirit. Headed by Mrs. Syverson, Pep Commissioner Lisa Lavato and the cheerleaders the group put in many long, hard hours to have pep rallies and Booster Buddies.

Pictured: Row 1-Michele Keithly, Daleen Whitman, Pam Day, Melody Quismundo, Beverly Borges, Debby Heidepeter, Marcy Wise. Row 2-Debbie Gray, Barbara Borges, Chris Ahlmeyer, Loida Whetstone, Becky Smith, Sandy Smith, Lisa Strickle, Alict Dalton, Debbie Watkins, Carmen Fiol, Lisa Lovato, Susan Serna, Casey O'Donnell, Nita Smith Della Nichols, Marla Poppe, Madaline Mendoza, Sally Andres.

Raider Life at Southwest is made up of individuals who all teamed together and made Raider Spirit what it is.

Fans at Football games yelling, clapping. Cheerleaders and Mrs. Syberson take a break from an exhausting pep rally and lead a chant.

Activities such as tug of war and sponge throw during Spirit Week brought everybody a little closer.

1. Southwest's Supermen test their strength on a tug-of-war. 2. Ernie Odviar shows his skill in sponge throwing and spectators cheer for him. 3. Co-Presidents Sam Besa and Arturo Molina show their spirit at the wheelbarrow race. 4. Raider fans on the bleachers give the football team their support. 5. Cheerleaders yell out one of their routine cheers for the spectators at the Pep Assembly.

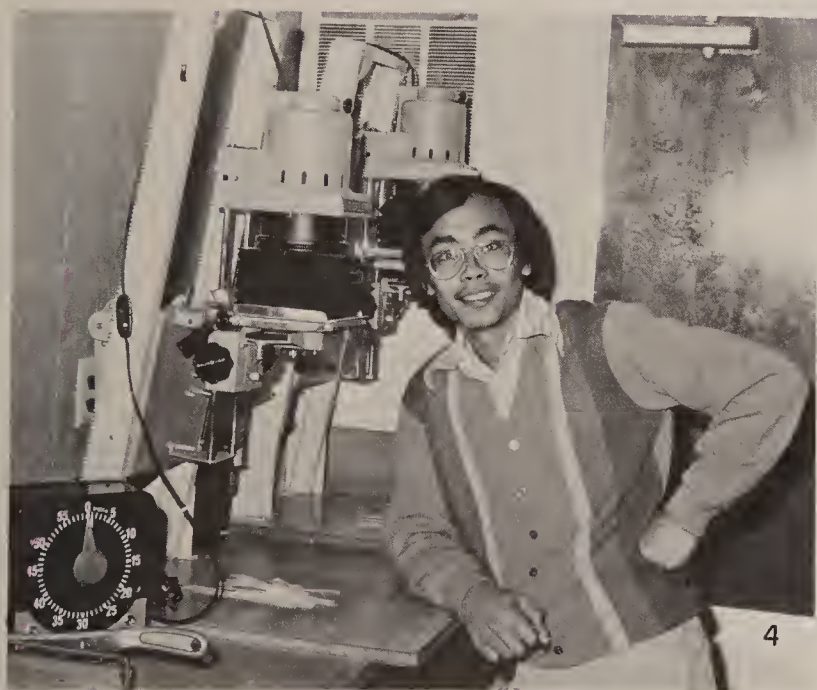

Individuals who remained undercover and behind the scenes shaped Southwest. Each unique person helped to create a spirited atmosphere. The electricity that is generated on the football field and in the gymnasium has carried its way into all facets of Southwest. Our potential will carry us for in sports, academics and hopefully, in life.

1. Late comers and absentees lineup to tell their stories to the attendant. 2. Mr. Jaime Mercado is a resource teacher and an administrative trainee. Through his knowledge, experience and friendly manner he has become a vital part of Raider Life. 3. Head Gardener Hal Norris has driven himself and his tractor into an unexpected mudhole. The only problem now is how is he going to get out? 4. Glen Del Carmen poses nonchalantly by some photography equipment. Glen deserves many thanks and high praise for his work as the ONLY Scimitar photographer during its first year of production.

" . . . We have arrived and experienced the feeling of unity, of completeness . . . " Southwest students found that the best things in life are worth waiting for . We took our journey one step at a time; learning first to stand, then to walk, and finally to run . We started with grass seed and continued with plans for classroom expansion and of thoughts for a Senior Lawn . . .

We took our journey one step at a time

In the years to come, the students of Southwest High should enjoy reflecting upon the memory of the beginning.
